COMPULSORY EDUCATION.

Judge Julius E. Boggs Submits Bible Proof For It.

Editor The Intelligencer:

The people who oppose compulsory education ought to be, willing and anxious to repeal the law which makes it a misdemeasor for a man not to provide for his children.

They bught to express themselves

They ought to express themselves as against the Apostle Paul who said: "He that provident not for his own household hath densed the faith, and is worse than an infidel." Now the Great Teacher said: "The life is more than meat and the body is more than raiment." The logical meaning of this is that the intellectual life is the main thing, and a failure to provide for it hing, and a failure to provide for it a as great an offense as maining he child in its hands or making it lame in its fact.

Hear Favorable Report From Club Secretaries Saturday

The secretaries of the Democratic Clubs in the county came to Anderson Monday and compared the club rolls with the certified copies. In nearly every hastarice the secretaries reported that the club roll is made up of bona fide members of the club and residents of the territory embraced by the club and that there were no outsiders on the club rolls. Further more, the secretaries found about about duplication, of names which had been made through honest mistake and the voters themselves requested that the change be made. For instance, in th case of the forming of a new club, such as Frankville or Cox mills, the voter might have enrolled his name on the old club roll before learning that he was required to vote in the new box. These all came as voluntary suggestions.

Four names were reported to be in error as the subscribers had not lived in the state long enough. Their names were left on the rolls, but the parties were notified to present themselves and show cause or their names would be erased at the suggestion of the enrolling committees of the clubs.

In only one case were duly quali-fied persons refused the right to enroll, and that was through the inac-vertence of the club secretary, who reported the matter himself and the two men's names were authorized to be curoiled, as they had applied for the right in due time and had no been allowed to enroll.

Secretary Leon L. Rise said last night that he believes there is absolutely no fraud in the enrollment and he believes that every person ha had the opportunity to enroll. The executive committee has been called to meet on the 15th to pass upon the The matters referred to above. It will conlist of managers of election is published elsewhere.

The committee has found that there are, out of the more than 8,500 names, only between 60 and 70 who signed their initials. However, as they were honest in " ming the rolls, it will be honest in r' ning the rolls, it will be recommen ed to the committee by the chairman, S. Dean Pearman, that these men be allowed to vote provided that these initials fully identify the light of Court House J. H. Harabin, J. Fleet Clinkscales, D. H. Mims, Ward S. School House, R. D. Sutthe votes of these men be placed in envelopes, to be counted separately, if this is constitutional. This would thrown cut by the State executive committee in case of any contests. The county chairman wishes to have every man in the county permitted to exercise the right to vote, but not to jeopardize the vote of his entire precinct by voting irregularly.

ATTEMPT MADE TO MURDER MAN

Miscreant Hiding in Jesse Duckworth's Barn Shot at Him Three Times Sunday

Jesse Duckworth, a well known Anderson county farmer, had a narrow escape last Sunday night from the large killed when some unknown white man fired at him three times. The attack was entirely unlooked for and by the time Mr. Duckworth succeeded in drawing his pistol and roceded in drawing his pistol and roceded in the large larg turning the fire his assailant made a get-away.

According to Mr. Duckworth's ctory of the happening, he drove a fory of the happening, there is north of Anderson, Sunday night, arriving there shortly after 11 o'clock, He entered the barn to place the animal in the stable and as he did so he saw a man step out into the hall-way of the barn. Without a word of warning the man fired a pistol. The first butlet struck Mr. Duckworth's coat, passed on through his shirt and out the other side of his coat. He was so not move and a second later the man tonished by the attack that he could again fired. This bullet also penetrated Mr. Duckworth's coat but did not graze his body. By that time Mr. Duckworth had gotten his own pistol out of his pocket and he began to fire, shooting at the fleeing man four times. The assailant jumped a fence and escaped. Mr. Duckworth fol-lowed him and found his trail but as found his trail but as Bowen, J. J. Finley, C. H. Balley.

Honce Path—City Hall—J. D. McCullough, R. W. Henderson, W. A. he was on the point of telephoning to Anderson for bloodbounds, a hard rain began to fall.

Mr. Duckworth says that he has idea of who the man was, other than bolt, W. W. Harris, L. E. Martin. that he knew him to be white. Either the man was in the barr with a view to stealing a horse or he went there because of personal malice against Mr. Duckworth and in an effort to take his life. The fatter would seem to be the more plausible expination since Mr. Duckworth's brother had just been to the barn less than 15 minutes before the shooting took place and he noted nothing out of the ordinary.

The case has been placed in the hands of the officers and it is believed that the miscreant may be attented
